First Wooden Ship of War Program on Atlantic Coast Christened To-Day.

WASHINGTON, March 18.-The first wooden ship of the Shipping Board's program to be launched on the Atlantic Coast will take the water tomorrow at Newark, N. J., and will be christened Coyote by Miss Phyllis Hughes, daughter of the former Senator from New Jersey. The Coyote is the Ferris type, of 3,500 tons.

Owing to railroad congestion, which delayed timber for weeks, the Coyote has been nearly six months in building. Such delay is not expected to occur again, as ship timbers were said today to be coming through from the northwest in sufficient quantity to keep the yards going. Another ship will be launched in the same yard in more rapidly.

The True TONES Of An Edison Re-Creation

When you hear a singer or the New Edison, it is jus as though the singer were in the adjoining room. The tones are so true, so distinct so natural. No nasal qual ity. Nothing added, nothing taken away from the artist' performance.

Have you heard the Nev. Edison? Glad to have you call and hear it.
